

POSSES HAVE SURROUNDED THE OUTLAW

Two Men Who Murdered Cashier at Cody Will Be Captured or Killed by Pursuers Within Short Time.

Friends Are Hastening From Hole-in-the-wall Country to Assist Them in Fight.

LIVELY TIME IS ANTICIPATED

One of Bandits Is Supposed to Be Harvey Logan, Noted Criminal—Rewards for Capture of Men Increased to $15,000.

Cody, Nov. 3.—The posses in pursuit of the outlaws have the men practically surrounded in the foothills of the Owl Creek mountains, 50 miles from here. Their death or capture is believed to be certain within a short time.

It is reported that a large force of their friends are coming from the Hole-in-the-wall country. A lively time is anticipated.

The bandits have cut the wires through the country and it is almost impossible to get further facts.

ONE IS NOTED OUTLAW.

Harvey Logan Thought to Have Been Murderer of Middaugh.

Cheyenne, Nov. 3.—Officers of the United States marshal's office here are of the opinion that Harvey Logan, the notorious robber, outlaw and general desperado is the man who killed Cashier Middaugh, of Cody. Logan was reported killed in Colorado four months ago, but people who know Logan say he was in Cody a few days before the attempted bank robbery.

The rewards for the capture of the bandits have been increased to $15,000.

CAVALRY TO JOIN SEARCH.

Two Troops Ready to Take Trail of Cody Bandits.

Lander, Wyo., Nov. 3.—Preparations have been made by the military authorities at Fort Washakie for two troops of cavalry to take the field in pursuit of the Cody bandits should they enter the Wind river reservation, which they are almost sure to do if they escape the posses from Cody and other places, which are now almost in touch with them.

Cody After Other Game.

Denver, Nov. 3.—A special to the Republican from Thermopolis says that Colonel Cody did not join the manhunt, but, with his English guests, will leave for a hunting expedition in the wilds northwest of Cody.

SALVATION ARMY ASSIGNMENTS.

Miss Eva Booth Will Be at the Head in United States.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 3.—A telegram from Salvation army headquarters in Toronto announces the new commission for the army in the United States and Canada. Miss Eva Booth, who for eight years has been in command in Canada, will be commander in the United States, with headquarters in New York city.

Commissioner Kilby, who will be Miss Booth's deputy commander, has been in charge in South Africa. He will have partial jurisdiction of the western section of the United States with headquarters in Chicago. Booth-Tucker, now head of the army in the United States, will return to England, but his future charge is not announced.

Commissioner Thomas Combes, who was the first to command the army in Canada and who is now in charge of the British Isles work will succeed Eva Booth as commander in Canada.

NOTED BLOODLESS OPERATION.

London Society Leader Subject of Surgeon's Skill.

New York, Nov. 3.—Another operation has been performed upon Mrs. Arthur Paget, the well known society leader, who was injured several months ago by an elevator accident in her residence, says a Herald dispatch from London. Mrs. Paget's condition has been the cause of much concern to her friends.

One Historical Society gushed surgeon whose specialty is bloodless operation was called. After a consultation with the attending surgeons, the specialist began his work. The fractured hip was literally forced into position, the adhesions broken down and the sufferer put into plaster of paris.

Much to the astonishment of the attendants, the surgeon, a few hours later, took Mrs. Paget from her bed and stood her on her feet for some minutes, while she was supported by the nurses. He expressed the belief that the fractures will now knit and she will be able to walk much sooner than had been expected.

ON MISTAKEN STAMPEDE.

Erroneous Report Starts Many for the Quinault Reservation.

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 3.—A typical land stampede has just been witnessed here and at Hoquiam, owing to the circulation of a rumor, which gained credence in some way, that the Quinault reservation, or a portion of the Olympic forest reserve, has been thrown open. A few went from here, but the larger number from Hoquiam. In some instances men closed their places of business, others gave up good positions, and all the horses and vehicles in the town were pressed into the mad rush. One party left Hoquiam at 11 o'clock at night, so as to be ahead of all rivals.

The rumor, of course, proved false, and the land seekers have about all returned to their occupations. The incident serves to show that unless proper precautions are taken in opening the reservation the land may be largely grabbed up by a few "sooners" and agents for lumber companies. It is considered here that the coming session of congress will probably see the Quinault Indian reservation thrown open. The Indians are said to be very anxious for the allotment, and recent acceptance of the corrected survey marks another step in getting the reserve opened. Some think after the Indians have their quarter-sections the remainder will be thrown into the Olympic forest reserve. It is thought by others that the land will be disposed of by lot, as was done in the last reservation opened in the Indian Territory.

BOY SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Youthful Criminal Will Die Before Time Set for Execution.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 3.—John Kay, aged 17, was this evening found guilty of murder and was sentenced to be hanged January 17. The boy is in the last stages of consumption and it is probable that he will never live to be hanged.

Kay's crime was particularly cold-blooded. He went to a shack occupied by John Spittal, a hunter. Spittal was absent and Kay started to steal his rifle and shotgun. Spittal returned and the boy shot him dead. He dragged the body into the cabin, placed blankets over it, exchanged his own coat and hat for those of the murdered man and started out with the guns, which he held in Vancouver.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

Many Injured—One May Die—Eighty Persons in Car.

North Andover, Mass., Nov. 3.—Twelve persons were seriously injured, one probably fatally in a street car accident early today. The car, bound from Lawrence to Salem over the Boston & Northern road and crowded with members of two campaign organizations returning from a republican parade at Lawrence, jumped the track at Carney's Corner and turned over on its side. There were 80 passengers and scarcely one escaped without painful cuts and bruises. Richard Floyd of Middleton probably will die.

Darling Coming to Coast.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Darling will leave Washington Saturday for a business visit to Pacific coast cities.

SHORTAGE AT HATCHERIES GIVES RISE TO FEAR THAT INDUSTRY WILL DECLINE

Oregon Plants Will Produce Only 15,000,000 Eggs This Year, While 100,000,000 Were Expected

Unprecedented Falling Off Is Attributed to Failure of Oregon and Washington to Act Harmoniously as to Closed Season—Senator Fulton Has Taken Up the Matter and Will Try and Correct Present Evil.

Portland, Nov. 3.—The fishing interests of Oregon and Washington are alarmed over the fact that the hatcheries of the two states will yield but 15,000,000 eggs this year in the face of an expected output of nearly 100,000,000 eggs. Last year the product was 70,000,000 eggs.

The unprecedented falling off in egg production this year, experts believe, is due to the fact that the states of Oregon and Washington can not agree upon the length of the fishing season. Its long duration last season has so curtailed the supply of hatchery fish that, unless some concerted action is taken by the two states in the matter, the future of the fish canning industry is problematical. The open season now dates from April 15 to August 15, but the duration of the season is greatly increased by law-breakers, who disregard the laws because the law in one of the states does not co-operate with the law of the other.

Senator Fulton has taken up the matter with the various interested parties. While the matter is entirely out of the hands of the national government, Mr. Fulton believes that joint legislation and joint enforcement of the laws between Oregon and Washington constitute the only remedy to insure the future of the industry.

FOUR MEN ARE MISSING.

Homestead Seekers Lost in Reserve and Can't Be Found.

Portland, Nov. 3.—A special dispatch to the Oregonian from Olympia says: M. V. Snyder, J. Russell, W. Dekney and Herman Flannigan, four well-known citizens of this place, are reported to be lost in the Olympic reserve, 35 miles from here. The men left Hoquiam last Thursday night with the rest of the homestead home-seekers and have not been seen or heard of since. Their guides, Pebbles and Johnson, who were to locate these men, left them Friday at a cabin while they went in search of claims, telling them to wait until they returned. On returning the locators found that the men were gone, but simply thought they had heard the news that no land would be thrown open there and had started for home.

On arriving at Humpulips City, Pebbles and Johnson found that the men had not come out yet, so started back in search of them. They have been in the woods since Saturday looking for the lost men, but were compelled to come out for food today and immediately left for the woods again.

Tonight all Hoquiam is in a fever of excitement. The local aerle of Eagles is employing the best woodmen it can get to go in search of the missing men. A posse of woodmen was formed tonight and left for Humpulips, where they will take up the search in the morning.

The party had only rations enough to last for two or three days, so if they are lost they will have nothing to eat except what they can kill. Snyder and Russell are married men, having families, but the other two are single.

CASCADE RANGE ALL RESERVED.

Washington Forest Reserve Reaches Across the State.

Seattle, Nov. 3.—Another 1,000,000-acre forest reserve is about to be created in this state, completing the withdrawal from settlement of the entire Cascade range from British Columbia to the Oregon boundary. Negotiations are now pending with the Northern Pacific railway for an exchange of its holdings between the Washington and Rainier forest reserves for other properties which, when consummated, will result in the creation of the Yakima reserve, and increasing the area withheld from settlement by another million acres.

Celebrates Her Independence.

Panama, Nov. 3.—The independence of the republic was celebrated today with great enthusiasm. President Amador received messages of congratulation from President Roosevelt and prominent people in different parts of the world.

TOO GOOD TO HIS FRIENDS.

Roseburg Man's Indiscretion Resulted in Discovery of Frauds.

Roseburg, Or., Nov. 3.—If one of the settlers who was to receive $750 for his timber claim had kept discreetly quiet and not been so anxious to get all his friends "in on a good thing," it is possible that the operations of the alleged timber land gang would never have been exposed. But this man, whom the authorities now have under surveillance, and are holding until all the principals in the supposed fraud have been apprehended, was very anxious that all of his friends should take up timber claims under the offer of the company, which Frank E. Kincart and Harry E. Miller represented. The result was that the secret leaked out and the United States officials were informed of the situation, the arrest of James Kincart and Harry W. Miller following on the charge of timber frauds.

The operations of the alleged ring were very extensive. It is said that Miller, Kincart and another man, entered into a contract with a big timber company to furnish them with timber land at a certain figure, and that to get this timber land they brought in settlers and located them on timber claims, paying all expenses and furnishing the necessary money to make the payments. There was an alleged contract with each man to the effect that as soon as he proved up on his claim he was to sell to Kincart and Miller at a stipulated figure.

The play was working very smoothly, and nearly all of section 13, township 26, had been taken up when one of the men, growing afraid that all the timber land in the state would be gobbed up, and that his friends would not get any of the benefits, hastened to gather up his friends and urge them to join the ring.

It is said to be known that Miller and Kincart were not to hold the land thus obtained themselves, but the government officials refuse to divulge the name of the company buying the land from them. As soon as the news of the supposed fraud reached the ears of the government officers, they came to Roseburg and confronted the settler who had been urging his friends to "get in on the good thing," and he gave the whole scheme away. It is not known whether the government will attempt to prosecute the settlers or not, but several of them have taken the hint and left the country.

WE USE MANY DIAMONDS.

Production Decreasing, While Importation Is Largely Increasing.

Mr. George F. Kunz is authority for the statement that interest in the production of precious stones increases in the United States from year to year. In a report recently made to the United States geological survey, he gives the value of the precious stones produced in the United States in 1902 as $321,400. This production was a little less valuable than that of 1902, which was rated at $328,450, but was worth considerably more than that of 1901, which was valued at $289,050.

The total value of the imports of precious stones in 1902 was $26,522,523, as against $24,753,536 in 1902, $23,815,352 in 1901, and $13,561,588 in 1900.

Mr. Kunz's report on precious stones is more attractive than usual this year, for it contains a great amount of miscellaneous data about the precious stones of other countries as well as those of the United States. The increased interest in this country in the production of precious stones has resulted in bringing together a splendid exhibit of these beautiful products of nature at the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, where thousands of visitors have seen and studied them.

This valuable report is an extract from the survey's volume entitled "Mineral Resources of the United States, 1902," but it is also published separately, in pamphlet form, and may be obtained on application to the geological survey, Washington, D. C.

SECURE YOUR SEATS TODAY.

There Will Be a Rush for the Performance of "Davy Crockett."

This morning at 9 o'clock the reserved seat sale opens at Griffin's book store for the production of "Davy Crockett," with Champion Jim Jeffries in the title role, at Fishers' tomorrow night. There will be a great demand for seats and theatergoers should visit Griffin's at an early hour.

Jeffries may not be a veteran in his stage experience, but he exhibited an appreciation of the public taste far beyond that of some of our brilliant theatrical managers when he decided upon a revival of that standard old drama of the frontier, "Davy Crockett." It is one of the best grounded and most fascinating plays that has ever been written on American life. It is essentially American in every line and situation, and it furthermore is replete with ready wit, clever philosophy and is wholesome, and at the same time strong in its situations and climaxes. The plot brings in many surprises and a realistic picture is given of border life as it existed on this continent three-quarters of a century ago. The expression of the famous frontiersman, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead," was once found in every school copybook in the land and it would not hurt the scholars of today if these same lines were on the penmanship slips, and not only frequently copied but remembered as well.

When a man like Jeffries will show such good sense as to revive a play like "Davy Crockett," he deserves public attention and support, and he at least deserves well for eschewing the wild cat melodramas, that are neither wholesome, entertaining nor good for anything else than to daub on scenery and picture conditions that are not worthy of the stage or public production. The champion is, however, presenting the role of "Davy Crockett" in his good, homely, natural style, which appeals to heart interest, and others will voice the sentiment that if he continues to revive such wholesome American plays in the course of his theatrical career it will be long in the land and as successful as it is long.

Guard Russian Ambassador.

It is stated on the best authority that it has been necessary to guard the Russian ambassador, Count Cassini and his daughter, the Countess Cassini, for some months, and more than once their lives have been in danger during that time. It seems incredible that such things can be. Count Cassini is one of the highest types of his people, courteous to the lowest menial, genial and affable at all times. His conduct of affairs between Russia and the United States has always been marked by the highest degree of ability, and there has never been a jarring note in all the years Count Cassini did not bring on the Japanese war, and certainly the dear little Countess had no hand in it, and why seek the lives of these two innocent people, just because a wrong has been done somewhere? Who shall dare say by whom the real wrong was committed which brought on the present deplorable condition of affairs between Russia and Japan? It reaches farther back than ken of this generation, and certainly those who contemplate so fendish a crime as an assassination of the Russian ambassador and his daughter need only to become known to have justice of the sternest kind meted out to them.

POPULISTS USED THEIR OWN MONEY

The committee has $1000 more to collect before the books are closed up. The statement is made to refute the story that the republican party is backing the populists financially.

PARKER IN CONNECTICUT.

Democratic Candidate Addresses Four Enthusiastic Meetings.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 3.—Four enthusiastic audiences greeted Judge Parker today on his only visit to the state in the campaign, and in several other places through which his train passed he was given a rousing welcome. The democratic candidate left New York during the afternoon and the speed of the train was slackened at Stamford and South Norfolk before the special train reached Bridgeport, where the first stop was made. The principal speech of the trip was made in this city tonight. Judge Parker was given a warm welcome.

The meeting was held in the opera house, which was filled. Local state issues furnished the first subject for discussion by the candidate, after which he took up a number of national issues that have formed the topics of other addresses. Development of the American merchant marine, militarism, the tariff, the trusts and other issues were discussed. Judge Parker held informal receptions after each of the meetings and shook hands during the day with several thousand people. He will start for New York tomorrow morning.

MILLION TO THE FUND.

Davis Says One Trust Contributed Liberally to Republicans.

Davis, W. Va., Nov. 3.—Henry G. Davis, vice-presidential candidate, delivered his 12th speech of the day here tonight. He will talk all day tomorrow and make his last speech Saturday night at Bellington.

Tonight Mr. Davis declared that one single trust had contributed $1,000,000 to the republican campaign fund. He did not name the trust.

Much of his address tonight was devoted to outlining Parker. Speaking of his own labor experience, he said he had never discharged a man because of his affiliation with a labor union. His addresses today were listened to by large and enthusiastic congregations of people.
